Case No.: _____

Community service must be completed with a government or non-profit organization. The individual performing community service will not be compensated for community service work. Community service does not confer the status of employee upon the individual performing community service, except for purposes of worker's compensation under NRS Chapter 616 and/or tort claims. Defendant has not been ordered to perform community service for any particular organization. The organization may, in its permissible discretion, decline to allow the individual to complete community service. By accepting the community service work and completing this form, the organization affirms it is a government agency or non-profit organization. By accepting the benefits provided by the individual, the organization agrees to comply with all requirements of NRS Chapter 616, including, but not limited to, tracking/reporting of hours. The Court does not keep records of community service hours for purposes of compliance with NRS Chapter 616. If Defendant fails to adequately complete the tasks assigned by the organization, the organization may notify the Court, in writing. It is solely Defendant's obligation to ensure that this form is provided to the Court in a timely manner. By submitting this form to the Court, Defendant affirms, under penalty of perjury, that he/she has completed the community service work indicated herein.
